St Sidwell's Point

Introduction

St Sidwell's Point will be the UK's most energy efficient leisure centre and includes three pools, a gym and two fitness studios, health suite and spa facility, children's soft play area and a café.

This environmentally friendly building is designed to save up to 70% on annual energy costs, the pools will have exceptional water quality, with minimal chemical content and the heat generated from the gym will help heat the pools.

Over 1,000 people have helped to design, construct and deliver this amazing building.

Careers in Construction

The creation of local jobs and apprenticeships has all helped to address a construction skills gap with the SW having the highest annual recruitment requirement in the UK.

Building Greater Exeter and Kier have delivered a number of initiatives to help promote careers in construction:

- Hosted visits onsite with career leads and students from local schools.
- Worked with Exeter College to help them deliver their Construction T Levels, assisting with lectures and hosting students onsite.

- Produced St Sidwell's Point Education Pack which provides information on the project background, environmental benefits, healthy design, building biology and construction careers.
- Created a ten minute video which provides an overview of the careers of the people who helped to design and build it.
- A further 11 individual videos that provide more detail on each job role.
